REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE

I, the Chairman of the Joint Committee to which the Bill* to provide for the prevention of water pollution and the maintaining or restoring of wholesomeness of water, for the establishment with a view to carrying out the purposes aforesaid, of Prevention of Water Pollution Boards, for conferring on such Boards functions relating thereto and for matters connected therewith was referred, as authorised by the Joint Committee, present, on its behalf this Report of the Committee along with the Bill as amended by the Committee, annexed thereto.

2. The Bill was introduced in the Rajya Sabha on the 22nd December, 1969.

3. The motion for reference of the Bill to a Joint Committee of the Houses (Appendix I) was moved in the Rajya Sabha by Shri U. N. Mahida on the 10th August, 1970, and was adopted by the House on the 18th August, 1970. A message was thereafter transmitted to the Lok Sabha on the 19th August, 1970, communicating to the Lok Sabha the adoption of the said motion by the Rajya Sabha. The Lok Sabha concurred in the motion on the 4th September, 1970, (Appendix II) and the message from the Lok Sabha was reported to the Rajya Sabha on the 5th September, 1970. Two meetings of this Committee were held. At the first meeting the Committee decided that a Press Communiqué be issued inviting memoranda on the Bill from individuals, associations, organisations and other bodies interested in the subject matter of the Bill by 5th November, 1970. The Committee also decided that all the State Governments and all the Municipal Corporations in the country and the Municipal Committees, where there are no Municipal Corporations, of the capital cities of the States, should be requested to send their comments on the various provisions of the Bill by the aforesaid date.

4. The Fourth Lok Sabha was, however, dissolved on the 27th December, 1970 and as such the Joint Committee could not complete its deliberations. The Fifth Lok Sabha was constituted on the 15th March, 1971. A fresh motion for reference of the Bill to a Joint Committee of the Houses was moved in and adopted by the Rajya Sabha on the 30th July, 1971 (Appendix III). The motion was transmitted to the Lok Sabha on the 31st July, 1971.

5. The Lok Sabha concurred in the motion of the Rajya Sabha at its sitting held on the 12th August, 1971 (Appendix IV). The message of the Lok Sabha was reported to the Rajya Sabha on the same day.

6. According to the fresh motion the Report of the Committee was to be presented to the House by the first day of the Seventy-eight (Winter) Session of the Rajya Sabha. The Committee, was, however, granted extension of time, first upto the first day of the Eighty-first Session and again upto the first day of the Eighty-second Session of the Rajya Sabha.

7. The Committee held 39 sittings in all (Appendix VII). In order to obtain first hand knowledge of the problems of pollution of water in the country, the Committee decided to visit certain important centres of industry located in various parts of the country, specially places where the problem of water pollution has become very acute. For this purpose, the Committee divided itself into three convenient study groups. Study Groups I, II and III which visited Eastern, Western and Southern parts of the country respectively.

The Committee also visited Haryana, Punjab, Delhi, Uttar Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir for an on-the-spot study of the different aspects of the problem connected with the pollution of water.

8. At its first sitting held on Monday, the 16th August, 1971, the Committee decided that all memoranda containing the views and opinions on the Bill, received in pursuance of the steps mentioned in paragraph 3 of this report should be deemed to be memoranda to the (newly constituted) Joint Committee. The Committee also decided that a fresh communique be issued inviting opinions from various individuals, associations and other bodies interested in the subject matter of the Bill who have not so far submitted any memoranda on the Bill and advising them to send the same by the 30th September, 1971. The Committee also decided to call witnesses for giving oral evidence on the Bill and authorised the Chairman to decide after examining all the memoranda, as to who should be invited for the purpose. The Chairman also requested Members to suggest names of persons who might be invited for giving oral evidence before the Committee.

9. Eighty-two memoranda containing views, comments, suggestions, resolutions etc. on the various provisions of the Bill from individuals, associations and other bodies were received by the Committee (Appendix V).

10. The Committee heard evidence tendered by 62 witnesses (Appendix VI).

11. The Committee decided that the evidence tendered before it should be laid on the Table of the Houses.

12. The Committee considered and adopted the Draft Report at its sitting held on Friday, the 10th November, 1972.

13. Before dealing with the changes effected by the Committee in the various clauses of the Bill, the Committee would like to point out that the Bill seeks to tackle the problem of pollution of water, keeping in view the peculiar conditions of streams in the country. The Committee is aware of the magnitude of the problem and the serious proportions it has assumed with the rapid development of industries in the country and feels that the Bill has been introduced at a stage when control and prevention of water pollution does not present insurmountable difficulties.

Keeping in view the gravity of the problem and the threat it holds out to public health, the Committee has endeavoured to bring out the changes in the Bill with a view to make it more comprehensive and as practical as possible. The Committee has effected such changes in the Bill as would make the various procedures time-bound thus obviating the likelihood of delays in the implementation of the various provisions of the Bill.

The Committee also has in view the peculiar conditions of geography and terrain of the States of Assam, Meghalaya, Nagaland and Union Territories Mizoram and Arunachal and for this reason suggests that a common Board for the prevention of water pollution would be advantageous. A new chapter has, therefore, been incorporated in the Bill to enable Joint Boards being constituted by agreement between two or more States.

With a view to control the problem of pollution of water and leave no scope for individuals, associations, industries and other bodies to continue or enhance pollution, the Committee has made the provisions in the Bill relating to penalties more stringent and deterrent so that polluters do not find it easy to ignore the requirements of law.

14. The principal changes effected by the Committee in the Bill and the reasons therefor are set out in the succeeding paragraphs.

Clause 2

Paragraph (d) [original paragraph (c)].—(i) As pollution of water bodies from any premises could be direct as well as indirect, the Committee feels that there should be scope in the Bill for controlling the indirect pollution also. As such the Committee has modified the definition of "pollution" to include both direct and indirect pollution.

(ii) Pollution of water can affect the plants and other aquatics organisms besides animals. The Committee is of the opinion that plant life and the aquatic life should also be protected from water pollution and the paragraph has therefore been revised suitably.

Paragraph (f) [original paragraph (e)].—The Committee recognises that sewage and sewage effluents originating from sewage systems and sewage treatment works as well as sullage from open drains contribute in a large measure to the pollution of waters. The Committee has therefore made the definition of "sewage effluent" more comprehensive.

Paragraph (i) [original paragraph (h)].—The Committee is of the opinion that water pollution is not restricted to rivers and water courses or inland waters alone but may extend to estuaries, sea waters and subterranean waters as well, all of which need to be protected from pollution. There are instances where the rivers are non-perennial and become dry. The Committee has therefore made suitable provisions to prevent pollution of streams in different conditions of flow. In addition the definition of "stream" has been enlarged to include estuaries, water courses whether flowing or for the time being dry, tidal waters, sea and subterranean waters.

Clauses 3 and 4

The Committee is strongly of the view that as the functions to be entrusted to the Central and the State Boards under his Bill are predominantly of a technical nature, the Chairmen of such Boards should be persons possessing special knowledge or practical experience in respect of matters relating to use, conservation, control and prevention of water and water resources.

The Committee also feels that the Chairman of the Central and State Boards should be full time Chairmen.

The Committee further feels that the Member—Secretaries who have a very specialised role to play, in the Central and State Boards, should also be persons qualified in respect of water supply, sewerage treatment and disposal of sewage and trade effluents. Because of the nature of their duties they should also have administrative experience. The Committee is also of the opinion that the Member-Secretaries should be full time Member—Secretaries. The clauses have accordingly been suitably amended.

CHAPTER III—(New) Clauses 13—15 (New)

In view of the fact that under special situations, some contiguous States or Union Territories may prefer to establish a Board for their regions for the purpose of implementation of the provisions of this Act, the Committee considers that it will be useful to make provision for the constitution of Joint Boards.

Clause 16 (Original Clause 13)

Sub-clause (2) Paragraph (f) (Original).—The Committee feels that the Central Board or the State Boards should not be vested with the responsibility of enforcing the provisions of the Bill in regard to matters pertaining to prevention of water pollution and at the same time advising local bodies or industrial undertakings in regard to the method of treatment and disposal of sewage and trade effluents. It would be inappropriate for a pollution controlling agency to act as an accuser and be also responsible for the solution of the problems complained of. The Committee has accordingly deleted this paragraph.

Paragraph (h) (New).—The Committee feels that it is necessary to execute a nationwide programme for the prevention, control or abatement of water pollution and has added the new paragraph with this end in view.

Sub-clause (3) (New).—The Committee feels that in order to enable the Boards to perform their functions effectively and efficiently, including that of analysis of samples of water, from any stream or well or samples of any sewage or trade effluent, the Central Board should be empowered to establish or recognise laboratory or laboratories. Accordingly, the Committee has added a new sub-clause in this regard. The Committee also feels that State Boards should also be empowered to establish similar laboratories and has accordingly made a provision to this effect in Clauses 16 and 17 (original clauses 13 and 14).

Clause 17—(Original Clause 14)

Paragraph (g) (New).—The Committee is of the opinion that in a country like India, with flows in rivers varying very widely from season to season and scant water resources, greater attention will have to be given in formulation of standards and the utilisation of sewage and suitable trade effluents for agriculture. Methods of disposal of effluents, will have to be evolved to suit local conditions.

Accordingly, suitable provisions in this regard have been incorporated in the paragraph.

Paragraph (m) (New).—The Committee has decided that laying down effluent standards to be complied with by persons depending upon the circumstances is important in a realistic approach in tackling the problem of water pollution. The paragraph has, therefore, been included with this end in view.

Clause 20 (Original Clause 17)

Sub-Clause (3) (New).—The Committee feels that the existing Bill does not empower the Boards to obtain the information regarding the process details or of any disposal facilities meant for treating these wastes which power should be readily available to the Board. A special provision has, therefore, been included in this regard.

Clause 21 (Original Clause 18)

Sub-clause (3), (4) and sub-clause (5) (New).—The Committee feels that the samples collected for the purpose of analysis could deteriorate with the passage of time and the preservation of the samples for future reference would not therefore be meaningful and would not be acceptable in a court of law.

With a view to rectify such situations, the Committee has amended the sub-clauses suitably.

Clause 24 (Original Clause 20)

Sub-clause (3).—The Committee is of the opinion that sub-clause in its present form can be availed of by established industries in avoiding installation of treatment works. A suitable new clause has, therefore, been added.

Clause 26 (New)

The Committee is of the view that the provisions referred to above did not cover existing polluters. At the same time the Committee agrees that some time should be given to such polluters to enable them to put up the necessary treatment facilities and has therefore made a provision to give them time to comply with the requirements. The new clause has therefore been adopted to achieve this objective.

Clauses 41—45 (Original Clause 34—38)

The punishments provided in the present clauses are principally fines, occasionally combined with imprisonment. Such punishments may, on the opinion of the Committee, not act as sufficient deterrents. The penalty provisions have therefore, been suitably revised.

Clause 49 (Original Clause 40)

Sub-clause (2) (New).—The Committee feels that as there is a possibility that a person guilty under this Act could find escape under the provisions of some other Acts which could let him off with much lesser punishment, it has specifically added the sub-clause to provide that in such cases only the provisions of this Act should prevail.

Clause 58 (New)

The Committee considered the possibility of an aggrieved party going to a court of law directly without taking recourse to the procedure laid down for making an appeal to the appellate authority. The Committee feels that it is necessary to make a provision in the Bill to obviate such an action being taken by the party and hence the new clause has been added.

Clauses 61 and 62 (New)

The Committee is of the view that there should be provision in the Bill for supersession of a Board by the Central Government or the State Government, as the case may be, when the Board was not found to be operating satisfactorily with the objects delineated to it. The Committee, however, feels that such supersession should not be of a permanent character but steps should be taken to reconstitute the Board as quickly as possible. With these objectives in view, the Committee has added these clauses.

Clauses 63 and 64 (Original Clauses 49 & 50)

Sub-clause (1).—The Committee is of the opinion that usually it takes a long time to frame the rules after the constitution of the Boards and this acts as an impediment in their effective functioning. The Committee has amended the clauses accordingly so as to ensure that rules are framed and become operative simultaneously with the constitution of the Boards.

The Long Title

The long title has been modified to include control of water pollution besides its prevention since the Committee feels that prevention may not be practicable immediately in many cases and in such a situation at least control should be exercised.

Clause 1

Sub-clause (3).—The Committee feels that usually there is some time-lag between the date of adoption of an Act by a State Government and the date appointed for its coming into force. In order to avoid such delay, the Committee has provided that the Act should come into force in a State simultaneously with its adoption by the State Government concerned.

15. The other changes made in the Bill are of a consequential, verbal or drafting nature.

16. The Committee recommends that the Bill as amended be passed.
